STATE FAIR ON SEPT. 1 TO 7

Detroit, Mich., June 18.—The 80th annual exposition of the Michigan State Fair, to be held September 1 to 7, will be featured by the beginning of a 20-year program that is expected to make the Fair the most famous of its kind in the world long before the centennial is observed in 1949, according to State Fair officials.

The first phase of the program will be the most extensive list of prizes ever offered by the Fair, $126,100. This compares with $120,000 last year, and $107,000 in 1927, the first time it had ever exceeded the $100,000 mark.

A second is the inauguration of a new display program. Wandering exhibitors of livestock and poultry who travel from fair to fair with exhibits, which they display only when certain of winning, will be barred. The purpose is to confine exhibits and prizes exclusively to established livestock and poultry breeders who heretofore have been discouraged by such "gyp" competition, and encourage them to display their stock and to breed better strains. As a consequence a 10% increase in the number of exhibitors and exhibits is looked for. However, some of this increase is expected to result from the greater cooperation between fair officials and exhibitors which has characterized the management during the last two years.

Prizes in the Better Baby contest have been raised this year to a total of $280. In an effort to make it the most comprehensive ever held the whole state will be combed for the most perfect baby between 1 and 3 years old. The contest will again be under the direction of Dr. Guy L. Kiefer, state health commissioner.

Five afternoons of horse racing and the horse show, with their fine prizes, are expected to bring together the fastest horseflesh and drivers in the section and the finest society horses in the state. Additional features for which prizes have been set aside will be the hog and husband contests.

The fair management is now negotiating for what it expects to be the finest midway show ever seen at the fair and for two unusual grandstand features never before seen at the fair. Prospective exhibitors are advised to write to the state fair management for programs of the show.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Ramsay MacDonald Coming to Washington for World Peace Conference.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

RAMSAY MACDONALD, prime minister of Great Britain, is planning to come to the United States to confer with President Hoover. In regard to naval armament reduction and enforcing the Kellogg pact outlawing war by joint action of the English speaking peoples. In Washington the news of this plan was well received, and it was learned at the White House that Mr. Hoover would be glad to meet Mr. MacDonald and discuss with him questions of mutual interest to their two countries. American Ambassador Dawes, on his way to England, was apprised of this development by radio and almost immediately after his arrival in London he went to Scotland for a conference with the prime minister who was taking a ten days' vacation at his home in Lossiemouth. Mr. Dawes was expected to deliver to Mr. MacDonald an invitation to visit Washington and hold there a conference with President Hoover and Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada. The best guess in London was that the trip would be made about the end of July after the session of parliament adjourns.

According to London correspondents, Mr. MacDonald said: "If President Hoover invites me to Washington I am going to answer 'I will go.' I shall hope to settle this question of Anglo-American relations once and for all." It was asserted he hopes to carry the discussion much further than naval subjects. He believes the world is entering on an era of great industrial and financial combines whose boundaries will cut across all national frontiers, and he is desirous of a discussion on economic cooperation and avoidance of cut-throat competition in foreign markets. Mr. MacDonald, as a Socialist, welcomes the welding of industry into trusts and sees no objection to the spread of trusts in the international field under proper governmental control.

JUST when it appeared that the farm relief bill as doctored up by the house and senate conferees and approved by the President had clear sailing, the senate messed things all up by rejecting the conference report by a vote of 43 to 46 because the export debenture feature had been eliminated. In this step the Democrats were joined by 13 Republicans all listed as radicals except Couzens of Michigan. The debenture advocates not only stood by their scheme, but they were especially determined to force the house to go on record on this feature of the measure.

President Hoover immediately called leaders of the house and senate to the White House and a program was agreed upon. This was to send the bill back to conference as the senate asked, and to have the conferees agree on their original report, after which it was expected the house would reject the debenture plan by a comfortable margin and accept the conference report. There appeared to be no doubt that the senate also would adopt the report of the conference after the house had rejected the debenture by a vote of 250 to 113.

The most interesting feature of the affair was the outspoken threat of Senator Brookhart of Iowa that a third or "progressive" party would enter into the congressional campaign next year and the Presidential campaign of 1932 if the debenture were not included in either the farm bill or the new tariff bill. He asserted the President rather than the senate was to blame for delays in obtaining farm legislation.

Tariff hearings were begun by the senate finance committee, and Senator Wesley Jones, told the senate this work should be speeded up with a view to completing the enactment of the legislation early in the fall, and therefore congress should recess for only a brief time. But Senator Watson, majority leader, expressed the belief that the tariff bill could not be finally acted upon until just before the regular December session.

SIGNATURE of the Young plan for German reparations payments by the seven interested nations is having speedy result in the way of settling other post-war problems. The council of the League of Nations met in Madrid, and the Germans carried out their plan of bringing before it the matter of early evacuation of the Rhineland. Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, proposed that an international conference be held this summer for the handling of all outstanding questions left over from the war, and this was agreed to by Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German minister of foreign affairs. Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain already had intimated that he was willing to participate in such a meeting. It was generally believed that the conference would be held in July, probably in London or The Hague.

It had been supposed that the council at this Madrid session would take up the vexatious question of national minorities, but Stresemann insisted it should be referred to the World Court at The Hague. This was strongly opposed by Briand and the representatives of the secession states, and a compromise was reached by which the matter was held over for the September session of the League assembly.

French Socialists in convention at Nancy declared in favor of the Young reparations plan, evacuation of the Rhineland and immediate ratification of the Mellon-Beranger accord for the payment of the French debt to the United States. Certain of the United States senators led by Howell of Nebraska have attacked the Young plan as "another move by the allies and the international bankers" to cancel not only the war debts but also the interest on the allied obligations to America. Administration leaders and State department officials asserted nothing in the Young settlement would affect the war debts owed the United States. J. P. Morgan, one of the American experts, declared on arrival in New York that the bank for international settlements, to be established under the Young plan, would be the greatest instrument for the preservation of world peace yet devised.

PRESIDENT HOOVER, because he was especially interested in the cornerstones of the Department of Commerce building, surrounded by many other high government officials, he wielded the trowel that was used by President Washington in laying the cornerstone of the Capitol 136 years ago, and in his address he said the event marked the emergence of the Commerce department into full maturity and service. The building will be the largest single public structure in Washington and in its actual floor space will be the largest office building in the world. It is to be the most important structure in the government's $115,000,000 program for public buildings in the city of Washington.

NEARLY every day the quick shooting enforcers of prohibition furnish more ammunition for the foes of Volsteadism. Last week they killed an apparently innocent citizen at International Falls, Minn., and a young man at Detroit whose companions admitted he and they had been trying to run a boatload of liquor from Canada. Dries in congress took the opportunity to denounce the activities of prohibition officers and Representative Clancy of Michigan demanded an investigation of the Detroit case, but after a trip to that city he said the shooting was justified. Representative Florence Kahn of California introduced a bill in the house directing the treasury to pay $25,000 to the dependents of every person "wantonly or negligently killed by any prohibition officer not acting in self defense." Other congressmen urged that the treasury forbid the use of firearms by dry agents, but Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of all prohibition enforcement agencies, said this could not be done. He declared that agents had been cautioned for more than a year against reckless use of firearms, and that 1 did not see what more could be done to prevent killings without crippling enforcement.

Two officers of Hopkinsville, Ky., who were convicted for killing a man in a prohibition raid were denied a new trial by Federal Judge Dawson in Louisville. In Silver City, N. M., a dry agent induced a bootlegger to sell him liquor and the latter was shot by other agents as he was making the delivery. Angered by the dry raid at Ripon, Wis., during the celebration of the Republican party's seventy-fifth birthday, Assemblyman Lamoreaux of Ashland county introduced a resolution asking the federal government to desist from attempting to enforce the Eighteenth amendment in the Badger state. About the same time dry agents raided the favorite drug store of Wisconsin's wet legislators in Madison.

Mr. Lowman has ordered heavy reinforcements for the dry enforcers of the Detroit area, in the way of both men and boats. In response to this the big rum runners of the Great Lakes met in Ecorse and laid plans to operate in unison. They adopted a shuttle system whereby traffic will be diverted to Lake Erie or Lake Huron when the enforcers are concentrated on the Detroit river, and they also have devised an elaborate intelligence system and began buying larger and better boats.

These are just a few of the wet and dry developments that take up vast space in the columns of the metropolitan dailies.

CADILLAC TO HAVE HOME-COMING

TO CELEBRATE JULY 4, 5, 6

Cadillac, Mich., June 18.—Back in the early days when the Indians roamed over Northern Michigan, the French explorers came to this region establishing a big fort and trading post where Mackinaw City later was established.

One of these Frenchmen was De La Mothe Cadillac, who later was sent by King Louis of France to Detroit where he founded that city.

The early village of Clam Lake adopted the name of Cadillac from the great Frenchman.

The coming of Cadillac and his picturesque retinue of Jesuit priests and soldiers will be one of the most interesting episodes of the historical pageant planned for July 4, 5 and 6 in connection with the homecoming planned for those three days. There will be scenes of Indian village life, early woodsmen and lumbering, the settling of the region, pioneer weddings and schools, and all the other periods of early history presented by a cast of 500 costumed characters on a stage 200 feet long and 18 feet high.

Besides the episodes of history there will be many beautiful allegorical dances, tableaux and drills, all set to music of a concert band.

This pageant, the first of its kind ever presented in Northern Michigan, will be staged in front of the grand stand at the Cadillac Fair Grounds on the nights of July 4, 5 and 6.

There will be an all-day celebration of the Fourth with sports and games for everybody and free ice cream for the children. A street parade of industrial floats and several bands and bugle corps will be held in the forenoon, boat races in the afternoon and shows and rides on the Fair Grounds all day. A $500 display of fireworks will be fired in the evening.

The Cadillac celebration will be the only one within a radius of 50 miles. It is being sponsored by the American Legion, which put over the very successful affair last year.

BAND TOURNAMENT AT WEST BRANCH

BANDS FROM EIGHT NORTH MICHIGAN TOWNS WILL ASSEMBLE JUNE 23RD

One of the biggest events to be held in northern Michigan this summer will be the band tournament and picnic at West Branch on Sunday, June 23rd. These gatherings have become a permanent mid-summer event with the bands in the association known as the Northern Michigan Band Association. Two meetings are arranged each year, one in June and one in August. West Branch is slated for the first meeting and Cheboygan for the later one.

Eight bands have signified their intention of coming to West Branch next Sunday. They come from the following towns: Cheboygan, Gaylord, Alpena, Rogers City, Rose City, Mio, and Midland. With the local band this will mean that nine bands will play in drill formation and in a monster mass band concert.

This splendid musical entertainment will be worth going miles to hear. The concerts at Gaylord and Alpena last summer were listened to by hundreds of people who pronounced them among the finest entertainments they had ever heard. A band director from Chicago has accepted an invitation to come and assist in putting on the program.

Prof. Ed. Clark of Grayling who organized the West Branch band will play with that organization that day.

10:30 a. m. Theme: "The Christ of the Out-of-doors."

7:30 p. m. Theme: "The Gods of an American Paganism." Do not fail to hear this address. It will convince you of the fact—that there is no real Christian in the world—nor is there any Christian nation? At that—we are only in the process of becoming Christian.

"The Biggest Thing In the World"

This is a peculiarly American phrase. We are apt to compare what we have with that of others, and loudly say of our own "It is the biggest thing in the world."

And into the teeth of this superficial notion of bigness, Jesus threw the challenge of QUALITY. He was never impressed with bigness. It did not scare Him. Big buildings, big crowds, big money—how little these things counted with the Christ. And if we are Christian, how little these should count with us. But too often we are overawed with the sense of bigness. We speak of big crowds as if we were able to measure a congregation by numbers. There is only one measurement of crowds and that is the significant purpose of their meeting. Probably the greatest danger that has faced the church, and continues to face it is this danger of thinking of its success in terms of numbers, and the consequent addition to her membership roll of many who should never join. Dare we think more of the church in terms of the consecrated Twelve rather than the fickle multitude?

IT SHOULDN'T be necessary to warn people against fast driving on Michigan avenue business district. Still there are those who seem to feel that they are privileged to speed from 30 to 50 miles per hour over the three blocks of pavement. One car with an out-of-state license has been hitting up a speed on main street that is unsafe, unwise and exceedingly distasteful to conservative motorists. It's not smart to show how brave a driver you are or how speedy you think your car is. Anyone can drive from 60 to 70 miles an hour but it is only a smart aleck who will do so in a busy business section of a city. Such drivers endanger the lives of others and since they haven't sense enough to understand it, they should be asked to pay a few maximum fines in court until they can learn that the state laws say 15 miles an hour in the business districts of cities and villages. Then if that doesn't teach them, take their drivers license.

DON'T KILL A CHILD

Vacation days are here. Children suddenly released from the confining walls of the schoolroom will be full of the spirit of play. There is not always the opportunity to keep them on supervised playgrounds. Many of them will be forced to play in the street. We do not want to deny them this small measure of sunshine and recreation. Motorists should be doubly careful during the vacation period. Children have a habit of running in front of automobiles. This is to be expected. Do not drive on city or village streets at an excessive rate of speed. And keep a close watch for children. Many lives will thus be saved. No-body wants to kill a child.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Underhill arrived in Grayling Monday evening from Pasadena, Calif., to visit the latter's mother, Mrs. Henry Bousson and other relatives, expecting to remain until August 1st. They traveled exactly 3069 miles in making the trip by auto, leaving Pasadena Sunday noon, June 9th. Enroute they went out of their way some 150 miles to visit some friends, and night stops were made at auto camps, which are equipped with showers and other modern conveniences. Six years ago when they made the trip here it took them 14 days to come, but they say the roads have been improved so much since then that better time is easily made on the trip.

Mr. Alex McPhee of Detroit arrived in Grayling Wednesday and is planning on remaining indefinitely. Mr. McPhee is a subscriber of the Avalanche and, being Scotch, found that he could get the paper for 50 cents less in Grayling than in Detroit so decided to come here. Anyway, Mr. McPhee says he has been working as chief inspector of an auto parts manufacturing company and that he finds that years of service standing on cement floors hasn't been the best thing for him. He says he decided that he wanted to go somewhere where he could find old mother earth to stand on and feels that in due time he will overcome his slight foot troubles. He said that he had never been to Grayling before but that reading the Avalanche had convinced him that Grayling was a good place to go to. Most welcome to Grayling, we assure you.

Lewis Konvicka was the guest of honor at a dinner last week Wednesday given by the nurses at Mercy Hospital in honor of his graduation from Grayling High school. It was a delightful affair and Lewis received many beautiful gifts that were opened by him following the dinner. The young man came to Grayling from his home in Beaver Creek about four years ago having finished the graded school there and entered the local High School. He made his home at Mercy Hospital working before and after school hours in order that he might attend school. His hobby has been to keep the grounds and buildings at the hospital trim and neat and anyone visiting the grounds know that it is such. He is quite a hand at carpenter work too, having constructed some pretty garden seats and arches of the pergola type that adorn the lawn. Lewis is a young man of fine habits and has hosts of friends both at the hospital and elsewhere.

Mrs. Bauman and Mrs. Woodson, after attending the graduation of the Misses Margrethe and Ella Hanson in Millbrook, went to Salisbury to be in attendance at the graduation of Mr. Nelson Woodson.

The new boulevard electric lights were first turned on Saturday evening. They add materially to the appearance of Main street. Where the streets were formerly only a quarter bright now they are illuminated in the business district most attractively. There are eight 250 candle power lights in each block beginning at the Michigan Central depot and continuing for three blocks, and there are lights at the beginning of the fourth block at the Michelson Memorial church corner and one on the side opposite, making 26 lights in all. The posts are 10 feet high below the globes and made from reinforced granite and concrete, gray in color. One single oval globe adorns the top and is mounted in a green, oxidized metal holder. From the top of the globe protrudes an aluminum colored arrow point. The municipality is to be congratulated on its enterprise in making Grayling the best city in the north.

TOO LATE

A New Jersey man was arrested recently for murdering a woman whom he had bigamously married. He confessed, and said that he had killed her because he realized that it would be impossible for him to keep up the deception that he practiced on her and his other wife any longer.

"Right after I married her I realized I had done wrong," he explained. This gentleman is like most of the rest of us. Right after we do something we realize it was wrong—and we'd give our eye teeth to undo it. If more of us could realize before we do a thing that it is wrong the world would be a lot better off.

PRECISION IN FORD CYLINDERS

Precision manufacturing and an unusual degree of importance which the Ford Motor Company attaches to the inspection of Model A cars has gone far to eliminate that tedious process known as the "breaking in" of a new automobile.

On the windshields of the new Model A are directions which suggest a driving speed limit for the first 600 miles of 35 miles per hour. This is in marked contrast to the old line of instruction which cautioned against a speed of more than 20 or 25 miles an hour for at least 1000 miles.

Excess heat is the most destructive agency which may affect an automobile, particularly in the first several hundred miles it is driven. Friction is mainly responsible for overheating, and a piston that is fitted too tightly may seize and in turn score the cylinder wall. This means an expensive repair job.

Careful machining of engine parts, such as cylinder blocks, pistons, camshafts, crankshafts, etc., the proper fitting of bearings, accuracy in the cutting of gears; multitudinous checks during the process of assembling the Model A and rigid inspections combine to produce an automobile which is ready for the road when delivered. For this reason, it may at once be operated to the limit of speed prescribed by the motor codes of a great many states, without going through the customary "breaking in" period.

SAILORS ON LEAVE GO BOAT-RIDING

The postman on his vacation has nothing on bluejackets from the U. S. naval forces in Europe, while visiting Venice, Italy, says the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit. The U. The absence of a popular make of car was noted, while the street cleaning department came in for much envious speculation.

MAHARAJAS, BEGUMS AND NIZAMS SECURE

Pictureque Indian Rulers to Keep Jobs.

Washington.—The recent report of the Indian states committee opposing the federation of the Indian native states and the British administration in India, tends to perpetuate the picturesque rulers of the hundreds of little and big states in the giant peninsula of India.

According to a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society, these rulers, although they have adopted western dress and customs for many occasions, still are among the most colorful potentates of the East.

Fortunes in Jewels.

"Consider the maharaja of Patiala in festive array if you would have a true picture of eastern splendor and color," the bulletin continues. "He wears a diamond tiara from which hang loops of diamonds, pearls and emeralds. Around his neck is a three-row pearl collar and, on his breast, an emerald breast plate. His coat is of rich brocade, and his hand rests upon a diamond-bladed sword sheathed in a velvet scabbard studded with diamonds. On his fingers are diamonds, rubies, emeralds and pearls."

"Patiala's maharaja is outshone by other princes in the splendor of their jewels. One ruler has a carpet of pearls, 8 by 10 feet. Maharaja Holkar, of Indore, has a carpet of gold in his throne room and tall gold chairs. The gukwar (prince) of Baroda's treasure, includes gun carriages and cannons of gold. White bullocks, with silver-capped horns and brocade trappings, convey these cumbersome carriages through the streets in official parades.

"Until a few years ago the ruler of Bhopal was a woman, the begum. Bhopal is a Mohammedan state and its woman ruler made pilgrimages to Mecca, and also visited England. There she was protected from 'unfidel' eyes by an enveloping cape which gathered around her head, with lace-trimmed silks for her eyes.

"Perhaps the most novel banquet table in India is that of the maharaja of Indore. A miniature landscape of flowers and trees illuminated by revolving colored balls adorns the table. A tiny electric train runs around its edge on a small track. The train contains seven coaches, one each for carrying brandy, port, sweets, nuts, chocolates, cigars and cigarettes. At the end of the meal, the maharaja starts the train by pressing a button at his place, and it stops automatically at the slightest touch of a guest who wishes to make his selection.

"The nizam of Hyderabad, the ranking Mohammedan prince of India and probably its richest ruler, has the largest harem in India. His household, including all retainers, numbers 7,000. Hyderabad was once known as Golconda, a famous market for diamonds in ancient days, and the nizam's personal collection of jewels is worth millions of dollars.

Colorful Courts.

"Although lacking in quality and quantity of jewels, the retainers of the rajahs, in their voluminous turbans and richly colored coats, are almost as picturesque as their rulers. Corps of nautch girls wear fortunes in heavy gold ornaments, and are picturesque in their brilliantly-laced skirts and pastel-tinted saris. Even the elephants of state take to color and jewelry. Their tusks are cut off and bound with brass rings. In some states they are provided with solid gold ankle bands, and are tattooed with swastika effect on their foreheads and ears. One ruler has a solid-gold pavilion mounted on the back of his favorite elephant, and others glid these howdahs and hang them with gorgeous trappings and tapestry curtains.

"The maharaja of Udaipur has some famous dancing horses. These are pure-bred horses, caparisoned in gold-covered bridles and brocade and dyes, which prance with careful steps to the sing-song music of their Indian accompanists. These dancing horses are popular and may be found in the stables of many of the Indian princes.

"Despite the enormous wealth of the princes and other potentates of India the masses of the people live in poverty. The average individual income of India's 300,000,000 people is estimated at less than the equivalent of $25 annually. British rule has brought two blessings to India, the building of railroads which avert the regional famines which, in the past dealt death to thousands, and protection of her northwest border against invasion by marauding tribesmen."

Deputy Sheriff Kindly Gives Thief a Lift

Billings, Mont.—Walter Scott, negro porter, will be very careful with whom he rides in the future. He left a barber shop, where he was employed, taking some hair tonic, appliances, and loose cash with him. Catching a ride out of town the following day, he was forced to take to the road again when the truck became bogged in a mud hole. His luck held out, apparently, as he approached another car that had stopped on the road. Scott was given a ride to Hardin then escorted into the police station there by his kindly benefactor, who happened to be a deputy sheriff from Billings, who had heard of the barber shop robbery.

MR. LINCOLN'S TROUSERS

Some people judge others too much by their clothes.

Many an awkward, ungainly, poorly dressed country boy is to grow into a future leader in government and business.

We all ought to get inspiration from the life of Abraham Lincoln. Someone accused the Whig party, with which he was connected, of being well dressed, plutocratic and aristocratic.

So Lincoln told how he dressed as a young man:

"I was a poor boy, hired on a flat boat at $8.00 a month and had only one pair of breeches to my back and they were buckskin. Now if you know the nature of buckskin when wet and dried in the sun, it will shrink, and my breeches kept shrinking until they left several inches of my legs between the top of my socks and the lower part of the breeches and when I was growing taller they were growing shorter and so much tighter that they left a blue streak around my legs which can be seen to this day."

SARATOGA'S PLANE FAR IN LAND

Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit: As a demonstration of the possibilities of the U.S.S. Saratoga's nest of eagles, a plane from the big aircraft carrier recently flew from the ship, anchored at Long Beach, Calif., to Washington, D. C., returning under its own power. The total distance of approximately 5,400 miles was covered in 56 and two-thirds flight hours. Other long distance flights, perhaps with an entire squadron of planes, are a possibility of future training.

NAVY DESERTERS BECOMING RARE

The increasing rarity of Navy desertions, observes the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit, is very gratifying to naval authorities. This downward trend is undoubtedly due in great measure, to the care used in selecting recruits, to see that "floaters" and other undesirables are not accepted for service on our men-o-war. Usually the rigid physical and mental tests applied, as well as the necessity of furnishing references, eliminates this class of applicants.

YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN WHO THINK CLEARLY THE GREATEST DEMAND OF AMERICAN BUSINESS

Bankers Association President Gives the Five Essentials of Sound Thinking in Business—Greater Opportunity
Than Ever Before for Young People With Educational Training and Power to Analyze Problems.

By CRAIG B. HAZLEWOOD
President American Bankers Association

ONLY half a century ago Michael Pupin, a shepherd boy, guarded his flocks by night among the fields of Serbia. Thieves often lurked in the bordering cornfields awaiting an opportunity to make off with a part of the herd. Serbian boys were taught a method of signalling one another for warning and help. Each carried a knife with a long wooden handle which he would thrust deep into the ground and in case cattle thieves approached he would strike the wooden handle. The sound would be transmitted through the ground to other boys some distance away who could hear and interpret the message.

"Why is it?" Pupin asked his mother, "that we can signal this way? Why is it the sound can be heard through the ground, but not through the air? Why is it the signals can be heard in the pasture land so much better than in the plowed fields?" The boy's mother could not answer his questions, nor could the village teacher. However, having an eager mind and great determination, the boy decided to go to America, where he might win an education and find out the answers to these and other perplexing questions. Hundreds of other boys under the same circumstances and with the same set of conditions have accepted these things without once questioning them just because they had always done them that way.

The Land of Education and Success

So a penniless immigrant boy from Serbia at the age of fifteen landed in New York in 1874 and, years later, having worked his way through Columbia University, concentrated the wonder and simplicity of his mind upon the problem of sound, which had puzzled him as a shepherd boy. The results of his thinking—what he has accomplished for the long distance telephone and for radio communication by his inventions—are known to the world over. "If during the past twenty-two years this company had been compelled to do without one invention of Michael Pupin," an official of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company once said, "and yet give the same service it is giving today it would have had to spend at least $100,000,000 more than it has expended."

These inventions, in which millions of dollars of capital have been invested, were the result of the thinking of a mere country lad who had the simplicity to wonder, the determination to know and the power to apply what he learned.

Stimulating the imagination and thinking is the greatest purpose of education. What American business needs more than anything else is young men and women to think—individuals who are not mentally anchored to tradition, who do not merely appropriate other people's ideas, but who are hard, purposeful thinkers, independent and unprejudiced, with the ability to concentrate and strike straight for the heart of a problem.

Business Needs Folk Who Think

America has astounded the world by its readiness in casting aside traditional viewpoints, disregarding traditional difficulties and pioneering new shortcuts formulas in the realm of business. Business is undergoing epochal changes.

Business problems are crowding in upon us so rapidly that the executive knows not where to look for adequate help or relief. With the enormous increase in size and intricacy of business affairs the problems have become so complicated and the mass of information necessary to their solution so great that the "days are not long enough." The demand for managerial and executive ability is rushing ahead—the opportunity for young men and women who have the professional training and who develop genuine thinking power is greater than ever.

All business feels the same crying need for the men who see clearly and think conclusively. Wherever we look—manufacturing, wholesaling, retailing, banking, financing—new forces are at work. Vast movements are under way and executives are seeking light upon perplexing problems daily.

Let us consider briefly the five essentials of a sound thinker. If I were looking for a young man of exceptional promise I should hope, first, to find in him the simplicity to wonder. Every great advancement in business has been made by men who dared to wonder, who had the courage to inquire into present procedure and who had the audacity to ask whether something that had been done a certain way for a long time might not be wrong. Although the history of America's progress from its very discovery to the present time has shown the value of an inquiring mind, there is still an inevitable tendency in most men to accept in a docile manner the opinions, methods, supposed facts, procedures and processes of the past. With due reverence to the effort, the spirit, the accomplishments of the past, let us make it our rule that everything be looked at with the clear questioning mind of the scientist.

He—You say you are making me a necktie out of one of your old skirts? She—No, silly. I'm making me a skirt out of one of one of your old neckties.

WHOSE MIND?

Reggie—And I escaped in the accident, Miss Sharpe, only through presence of mind. Miss S.—Whose mind, Mr. Sapp?

WHAT HE WOULD DO

He—If you'd marry me, I'd never do anything you didn't want me to do. She—I believe you. You don't even do half the things I want you to do now.

UNEARTHLY NOISE

"Dad intimated that your playing was heavenly." "He did?" "Yes, he said, "Where do those unearthly sounds come from?"

WAS STOLEN NO DOUBT

WHAT SHE USED TO BE

Old Weapon of Warfare

A fire ship was a vessel set on fire and sent among the enemy ships to destroy as many as possible by fire and to cause confusion. The use of such ships was first recorded at the siege of Tyre, B. C. 332. Soon after the beginning of the Nineteenth century their usefulness declined owing to the development of steam and change from wood to iron in shipbuilding.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Alfalfa hay should not be put in the barn too green, as it is likely to heat and in extreme cases to burn.

Eggs to be shipped to market should always be packed in the fillers small end down, as they carry better in transit and storage in that position.

Bermuda grass pasture should be kept closely grazed, as the stems become dry and wiry if allowed to get too old. Where there are not enough stock in the pasture to keep the grass well grazed, it often pays to harvest for hay and get a fresh growth for pasturing that will be more nutritious and palatable than the older stems.

Makers of Roquefort cheese in the town of Roquefort, France, where almost the entire world supply comes from, don't have to worry about proper temperature, ventilation, and humidity for curing, as the cheese is cured in caves. These caves are of peculiar rock formation in which there are caves and grottoes connected with one another and with the outside by numerous channels. The temperature and humidity of the caves remain about constant the year round, conditions being excellent for mold growth and ripening of the cheese.

If it is decided to renovate the strawberry bed and keep it for another year, first mow the tops, particularly if the matted row system is used, then clean out the bed, removing surplus plants, and cultivate the soil between the rows. In regions where the growing season is long, the foliage need not be cut until sometime in August, but in the North the tops should be mowed and the bed renovated as soon as possible after fruiting. Some strawberry growers apply a small amount of fertilizer after renovating the bed.

Many poultrymen are building up a good trade by selling pullets of from 8 to 12 weeks of age. This offers a profitable outlet for surplus chicks and gets the pullets off the range before they crowd the birds that are being raised for laying stock. By the time pullets are 8 weeks old they are past the stage of greatest danger and can be kept in colony houses or in summer shelters at low cost and with a minimum amount of attention. They usually find a good market among farmers, backyard poultry keepers, and others who do not have broader equipment.

Meal worms cause much havoc if they get into stores of flour or meal, but periodic clean-ups of refuse in mills, warehouses, and granaries will prevent their becoming established, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They are found in largest numbers in accumulations of refuse meal, grain, and sweepings in mills and under the litter of chicken houses. In commercial plants infested material can be treated with heavier-than-air gases or by subjecting it to a temperature of 130 degrees F. for an hour or longer. Often meal worms are reared and used as food for birds, fishes, and small animals.

The present-day consumer wants his beef in a small, attractive package. To raise blocky, smooth young animals for such trade many farmers have adopted the system of full feeding grain to beef calves during the suckling period. By this plan grain-finished beef is produced with a minimum use of grain, and the farmer is able to make a more rapid turnover of operating capital. The relative costs of feed necessary to produce equal gains in calves, yearlings, 2-year-olds, and 3-year-olds, according to a survey made in the Corn Belt by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, were: Calves, $1; yearlings, $1.05; 2-year-olds, $1.26; and 3-year-olds, $1.60.

After exposure to poison ivy or poison oak, thorough washing of the skin surface with strong kitchen or laundry soap having an excess of alkali, is a good precaution. Lather well, and rinse several times in running water. Pay special attention to the finger nails and tender skin between the fingers. This treatment if carefully done may be tried even after inflammation has developed, to lessen the area affected, and the intensity of the poisoning. As a preventative solution of 1 part of iron sulphate in 5 parts of water has been recommended. This solution should be freely applied to the parts likely to come in contact with the ivy and allowed to dry. By this means some measure of protection may be afforded by persons who are engaged in work that makes it difficult to avoid contact with the plant. A 5 per cent solution of potassium permanganate applied locally is reported to be a very good remedy. The brown stain caused by this solution will gradually wash off or it may be removed more rapidly with lemon juice. Solutions of cooking soda or Epsom salt are ordinarily as helpful as any local applications. In the early stages ointments are not recommended.

EAGLES OF AN EMPIRE

Colonel Clarence D. Chamberlin, famous trans-atlantic aviator, has become a successful writer. His novel, "Eagles of An Empire," will be released in serial form this summer, by "Flyers," a prominent air-magazine, published at New York, and edited by Casey Jones.

It is Colonel Chamberlin's belief that the immense strides that have been made in aviation recently have been due to the fact that the public has been made air-minded by having its attention focused on aviation through the outstanding accomplishments of those who stuck to their ships during the infancy of flying.

He believes that the pen is at least as might as the joy-stick as a means of pointing out the fact that there is still much to be done in the conquest of the air. His novel, while fiction, deals with the struggles that are going on in the industry today.

THE WEEK IN WASHINGTON

(By Congressman Roy O. Woodruff)

After more than eight years of working at cross purposes, the Congress and the President have at last agreed upon farm relief legislation. On Friday, the 14th of June, the Senate agreed to the House bill and the same was sent to the White House for the Presidential signature, which it received very promptly. To the very last, the Senate insisted upon writing in the debenture plan, notwithstanding the fact that every man in both branches of Congress knew that this plan incorporated into the bill would bring the Presidential veto. Every man also knew that there was not the necessary two-thirds vote in either House to pass the bill over such Presidential veto.

Following the Senate vote which approved the Debenture plan, the President issued a statement on June 12 in which he said in part as follows: "The vote in the Senate today at best adds further delay to farm relief, and may gravely jeopardize the enactment of legislation. In rejecting the report of the Senate and House conferees, which report was agreed to by members of both parties, the Senate has, in effect, rejected the bill which provides for the creation of the most important agency ever set up in the Government to assist an industry—the proposed Federal Farm Board, endowed with extraordinary authority to reorganize the marketing system in the interest of the farmer, to stabilize his industry and to carry out these arrangements in conjunction with farm cooperatives, with a capital of $500,000,000 as in earnest of the seriousness of the work. It is a proposal for steady upbuilding of agriculture into firm foundations of equality with other industry and would remove the agricultural problem from politics and place it in the realm of business."

"I earnestly hope that the Congress will enact the conferees' report and allow us to enter upon the building of a sound agricultural system rather than to longer deprive the farmer of the relief which he sorely needs."

It cannot be questioned after reading the above that it was President Hoover's intention to veto the bill if the debenture plan was incorporated therein. It seemed to me that a vote for this plan, under the circumstances, was simply a vote to further delay farm legislation, and could not possibly work to any good purpose.

Congress will undoubtedly make available the $500,000,000 provided in the bill; the President will unquestionably very promptly appoint the members of the Board, and this whole plan ought to be in operation in time to be effective, to some extent, at least, in the marketing of this year's crops.

No one, I think, believes that this bill is going to at once revolutionize the agricultural industry, but it is certain to be most helpful in the years to come. To those farmers who are dissatisfied with this measure, I would say that it is well to remember that in the history of this country there has been no industry extended the same amount of help as is extended agricultural industry in this bill.

INTERLOCHEN SCHOOL MUSIC CAMP TO GIVE MICHIGAN ITS GREATEST MUSICAL SUMMER

Interlochen, Mich., June 19.—With students from all but half a dozen states in the Union in attendance and with a faculty which "includes the finest group of musicians and educators ever assembled to work together in America," the 1929 National High School Orchestra and Band Camp will get under way here Sunday, June 23.

The Camp, which is sponsored jointly by the Music Supervisors National Conference, the National Federation of Music Clubs and the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music, is intended to provide an opportunity each year for 300 of the country's most talented school musicians to spend a summer of study under outstanding musicians and world-famous conductors. Only students of excellent character and undeniable talent are accepted for the Camp.

Musical director of the Camp is Joseph E. Maddy, of the University of Michigan school of music, and its supervisor of instruction, T. P. Giddings, music supervisor of the Minneapolis public schools.

The Camp will continue for eight weeks. The major activities will be an orchestra of 150, a band of 90 and a choir of 60. By "doubling" the orchestra will number 220, the band 150, and the choir 100.

A Veritable City Of Music

A visit to the Camp reveals a veritable city of music—a community where life's activities are carried on with violin and horn. Cottages for the boy musicians and faculty dot the shore of Lake Wah-ke-ka-ness, while the girls and their counsellors are housed above the beach of Lake Wah-ke-ka-netta, a mile away. Midway between the two stands Interlochen Bowl looking down upon its imposing orchestra shell appropriately built of giant log pines. Here are held not only the orchestra, band and chorus rehearsals but also the public concerts which are given at frequent intervals during the summer. The natural amphitheatre, affording a seating capacity of 6000 people, is yet not big enough to hold the mass of humanity which swarms to the woods at the announcement of a concert.

The concert schedule for the coming summer will include regular Sunday afternoon and evening concerts, with special features planned for each concert. Guest conductors will include Frederic A. Stock, Leo Sowerby, Howard Hanson, Edgar Stillman-Kelly, Earl V. Moore, Carl Busch, Albert Stoessel and Prof. A. A. Harding.

Dr. Hanson and Mr. Sowerby are writing symphonic works which will be given their first performance at Interlochen Bowl under their personal direction. Among the soloists will be Ernest Hutcheson and Theodore Harrison.

Opera And Massed Band Concert
Special features for the concert season will include the production of Gilbert & Sullivan's opera, "Pirates of Penzance," by the chorus assisted by the orchestra; a massed band concert for which the school bands of the Grand Traverse region have prepared during the winter; a massed chorus production of Mendelssohn's oratorio "Elijah," with visiting artists as soloists; and popular request programs every Wednesday night, the band one week and the orchestra the next.

Two hours every morning, six days a week, are spent by the youngsters in orchestra practice, which is conducted on a strictly professional orchestra basis. In the afternoon, one hour and a half is given over to band rehearsals. Definite periods likewise are set aside for practice by the choir. In addition there is class work in such subjects as conducting, composing, orchestration and teaching methods. Residents of each cabin are chosen with a view of a complete ensemble organized to practice on smaller works, while within the orchestra are a symphony and various other groups which give evening programs requiring thorough preparation.

Youngsters Chosen For Ability

However, all is not work for the youngsters. Leisure hours are spent in swimming, boating, tennis, archery, baseball, basketball, hiking, dramatics, painting and playwriting.

Youngsters for the Camp are chosen on the basis of ability, and their scholarships paid by their schools, parents, service clubs, community organizations or individual philanthropists.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

UNLESS all indications are wrong, peace between Mexico's government and the Roman Catholic church will be declared in the near future. Archbishop Ruiz of Michoacan and Bishop Pascual Diaz of Tabasco held conferences with President Portes Gil in Chapultepec castle as the climax of long negotiations, and there was good reason to believe they arrived at an understanding which would need only the approval of the Pope. In well informed quarters in Mexico City it was asserted the basis of the agreement was mutual consent for a broad interpretation of the country's religious laws, both sides making concessions.

THREE United States district judges sitting en banc in Chicago found the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and fifty-one associated concerns guilty of violating the Sherman antitrust act by pooling their so-called "oil cracking" processes. The decision which granted the government a permanent injunction restraining the defendant companies from further violations of the law, came after more than four years' litigation. In the original suit, filed in 1925, the government claimed the defendants conspired to restrain trade and create a monopoly by refusing independent concerns the right to use their Burton "cracking" process, used to extract gasoline from crude oil. In defense the Standard of Indiana held that the process had been of vast benefit to consumers and had materially lowered the price of gasoline.

THREE Swedish aviators started to fly from Stockholm to New York, but a broken gas feed pipe forced them to land on the coast of Iceland. They got their plane to Reykjavik and last week made three attempts to fly from there to Greenland but were driven back each time by rough weather. The aviators, Ahrenburg, Floden and Ljunglund, are trying to establish a new air trade route between Europe and America.

GLVESTON'S International "pageant of pulchritude" came to an end with the awarding of the title "Miss Universe" to Fraulien Lisi, Goldarbeiter of Vienna, Austria, the young governess being adjudged the most beautiful of all the contestants. Miss Irene Ahlberg of New York was named "Miss United States." The affair did not come off without a small scandal, for Theda Delrey, "Miss Tulsa," who was selected for ninth prize, was accused of being really the "Miss Houston" of two years ago and therefore ineligible as a former contestant.

Debutante Now Nun

Miss Elizabeth Anne Clem, only daughter of Maj. Gen. John L. Clem, retired (famous "Civil War" "Drummer Boy of Chickamauga"), who two years ago made her debut in Washington society, has become a Catholic nun. She received the habit of Our Lady of Mount Carmel at the Carmelite cloister in New Albany, Ind.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I had not seen Van Deventer for twenty years—in fact since he had taken his degree and left college.

As an undergraduate he had been well known for various reasons. He was a good student; he was a winning athlete, and he had so interested himself in college affairs as to be pretty generally known by everybody. I had heard from him indirectly during the years since he had been out, but, as I say, I had never before met him face to face.

"It's wonderful to get back to the old place," he said as he shook hands with me. "Twenty years is a long time to be away, but seeing the building and the campus and a lot of the old fellows puts new life into me."

"How are you getting on?" I asked him.

"I've been more prosperous than I ever had any reason to hope," he said modestly. "I've had mother and my sister to look after and we're more than comfortable. If I did not work any more we could be financially comfortable for life. I'm happy over having made something of my education, happy that I have succeeded in the profession I took up, but I've had more satisfaction in having been able to do something worth while in the community in which I live than in anything else I have been able to accomplish."

Then he told me in a simple modest way of his co-operation in civic and religious enterprises, and the work he had done in the schools, in the political affairs of his town and especially in the boys' organization in which he had always had the keenest interest. It was a more than interesting work and I told him so. He had sensed the real purpose and meaning of free education.

I often ask young fellows who come in to talk to me just why they are getting an education, and I am struck with the almost universal reply that they want to do something that will improve their own personal condition. It is self-improvement that they were after and self-advantage; they give little thought to what their education is going to help them to do for the community in which they are to live.

The purpose of free education is not that the individuals who take advantage of it may have, as one father said to me once of his son, an easier time in life, a softer berth, and larger income. Those of us who have been educated at the expense of the community or of the state in which we live for that very reason are under obligations to assume greater responsibilities than others who have not had our opportunities or our training. We are not entitled to an easier time but must, as Van Deventer was doing, give more constant and efficient service to the community than other people.

SHELL MOTOR OIL WEEK JUNE 16-22

St. Louis, June 16.—Mr. U. de B. Daly, president of the Shell Petroleum Corporation announced today that the week of June 16-22 had been designated as Shell Motor Oil Week by the company's executives.

"Plans for Motor Oil Week," said Mr. Daly, "have been under way several months in our sales division and all is about in readiness for the most extensive and what bids fair to be the most successful educational drive in the company's history. However, as a final preliminary step in the program a series of 600 meetings will be held throughout Shell's distributing and jobbing territory, on Friday evening, June 14th, at which it is estimated that 20,000 Shellmen will be in attendance. So far as is known no other manufacturer has held six hundred simultaneous meetings for its distributing organization, and our sales division is to be commended for its thoroughness in making and completing the plans for such an undertaking. The purpose of these meetings which will take place throughout the territory on the same evening and at approximately the same hour, is to acquaint all jobbers, distributors and salesmen with the program and to discuss plans and make final arrangements for Motor Oil Week.

"It is planned to make Shell Motor Oil Week largely educational in character and its inauguration is in keeping with the Shell Petroleum Corporation policy of thoroughly acquainting the motoring public with the latest and most advanced means for protecting and insuring long life and economical operation of its motor cars.

"During the week of June 16-22 motorists who 'Stop at the Sign of the Shell' will be given every opportunity to ask the salesmen questions concerning motor oil and gasoline, the effect of carbon on the performance of automobiles, and the proper lubrication of motor cars, through especially prepared booklets, and by taking advantage of the recently inaugurated 'Ask the Shell Man' policy of the corporation."

"The Shell Petroleum Corporation owns its own producing wells, transportation facilities, refineries and marketing units. It operates 2650 miles of pipe lines and over 6000 owned and leased tank cars. Shell Petroleum Corporation refineries are located at Wood River, Ill., East Chicago, Ind., Arkansas City, Kans., New Orleans, La. A new refinery is now under construction at Houston, Texas. Headquarters of the corporation are in its own building at Shell Corner, St. Louis.

SAFETY-PREVENTION CAMPAIGN

Michigan's second annual safety-prevention campaign comes to a close on June 30.

Right now it is estimated that nearly one-half of the motor vehicles in the state are minus inspection certificates.

The inspection is free. Only necessary repairs must be paid for by motor car owners.

This is not a compulsory examination—but at the end of the campaign a rigid check will be made and prosecution follow for all whose cars do not conform to the safety regulations of the Michigan motor laws.

You still have time to get your badge of good citizenship. Why should you need to be either urged or admonished.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish through these lines to thank the neighbors and friends, also the Woman's Club for their kindness and flowers sent during the illness and death of our darling baby. Also Rev. Greenwood for his comforting words.
